HISTORY

In 2023, the County Legislature passed Erie County Local Law #4 to further develop the county's financial support of public art. The law created a funding mechanism related to certain capital projects. Specifically, the law requires one percent of the cost of qualifying capital projects to be allocated to a "Public Art Fund". The maximum public art allocation for any capital project is $10,000. The present balance within the Public Art fund is $220,722.54; $84,988.54 remaining from the 2025 appropriation, and a 2026 appropriation of $135,734.

The fund supports the implementation of public art projects chosen by the Art in Public Places (AIPP) Committee and finalized in the annual Master Public Art Plan.

2025 AIPP MAJOR WORKS

COMPLETED AT ERIE COUNTY HEALTH MALL & BUFFALO CONVENTION CENTER

Overview

As detailed in the 2025 Master Public Art Plan, Erie County's AIPP Committee released a Call for Art inviting local artists to submit proposals for public art projects at five locations throughout Erie County: Seneca Bluffs Natural Habitat Park, Como Lake Park, Ellicott Creek Park, Erie County Health Mall, and the Buffalo Convention Center. Fifty-eight (58) proposals were received and reviewed by the Selection Committee. In reviewing eligible submissions, the committee considered the artist's professional background and experience with similar projects, the proposed design and its relationship to the site and broader community, as well as maintenance requirements associated with the project.

Three proposals were recommended for implementation, with two of three moving forward upon contract execution. The selected artists, Erie County residents with applicable experience, presented projects that activate and beautify public spaces, engage the community, and reflect Erie County's unique values and culture.

BUFFALO CONVENTION CENTER MURAL BY CASSANDRA OTT AND CHUCK TINGLEY

Address: 153 Franklin Street, Buffalo, NY, 14202

Title: Queen City Kaleidoscope

Public Art Location: Exterior wall along Pearl Street

Artist Description: Our mural design covers the majority of the proposed Buffalo Convention Center wall and is inspired by Buffalo's beloved blue and red. We used these colors as a springboard to create a vision for a colorful corridor down Franklin Avenue. Buffalo is full of murals depicting its namesake bison and legendary wings, but Buffalo is so much more than those icons. The welcoming communities, deep histories and industry along Lake Erie are represented here in a harmonious swell of blues and reds. Elements representative of nature, waves and fingerprints line the sidewalk with a sea of colorful connections that welcome the community and visitors to the region. Highlights of a metallic gold are interspersed throughout the design to represent the sun over Lake Erie and add interest.

ERIE COUNTY HEALTH MALL MURAL BY LAURA VALKWITCH

Address: 1500 Broadway Ave Buffalo NY 14212

Title: Cloud of Hope

Public Art Location: Exterior wall on the east side of the building.

Artist Description: This artwork invites viewers to pause and reflect, offering them a moment of tranquility and inspiration in their everyday lives. It could serve as a gentle reminder of the beauty in nature and the vastness of the world above us, encouraging everyone to look up and dream.

Statement from the County Executive

“This is more than a work of art, it’s a symbol of how public spaces can reflect and uplift the communities they serve.”

- Mark Poloncarz

2025 AIPP SMALL WORKS ACQUISITION PROGRAM

Erie County Launches Public Art Collection

Overview

The Art in Public Places Committee is dedicated to transforming Erie County's public spaces into vibrant, welcoming environments that celebrate the diversity and creativity of the region. In the summer of 2025, the AIPP Committee released a Call for Art to consider the purchase of artwork for display inside various county-owned facilities. These works would comprise Erie County's first Public Art Collection. The Call for Art received over 300 responses, reflecting the extraordinary talent within our region. Through an extensive selection process involving a semi-finalist and finalist round in which works were reviewed online and subsequently in-person, the AIPP Committee acquired 22 pieces from 17 local artists. Works include paintings, collages, photographs, mixed media and sculptural works. Currently on display at the Buffalo Convention Center, the works may be rotated periodically to other county-owned facilities such as libraries, government offices, and community centers.

The Small Works Acquisition Program fosters engagement, sparks dialogue, and creates a sense of belonging while providing local artists with meaningful opportunities to shape the aesthetic and cultural identity of Erie County. The selected artists represent Erie County's creative community, and their contributions ensure that public spaces throughout the county remain dynamic, inspiring, and inclusive.
